

Berkeley Engineering Preview Day

April 30 - May 3, 2014

The Berkeley Engineering Preview Day is designed for rising seniors who are interested in applying to PhD programs in engineering.

Over the course of 3 days, participants will:

- Meet individually with faculty members
- Attend workshops on the graduate admissions and funding process and learn how to put together a competitive application to UC Berkeley
- Receive advice on maximizing his/her upcoming summer research opportunity
- Network with researchers from national laboratories and engineering research centers
- Interact with current UC Berkeley graduate students
- Tour the Berkeley campus and visit San Francisco
- Airfare, accommodations and meals provided

Participants will receive ongoing advising from the Engineering Graduate Outreach office throughout the summer and admissions cycle.

Eligibility:

- Academic goal is a PhD in an engineering discipline
- Intend to apply for graduate school this fall (2013)
- Minimum 3.5 GPA
- Must be a US Citizen or Permanent Resident

To apply:

- Complete the on-line application:
<https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/BerkeleyEPD>
- Submit an unofficial transcript to merol@berkeley.edu

Deadline: Tuesday, April 16, 9:00am PST

Contact: Meltem Erol, merol@berkeley.edu, 510-643-1743

For More Information: coe.berkeley.edu/students/engineering-diversity/preview-day.html

Students traditionally underrepresented in engineering are strongly encouraged to apply.